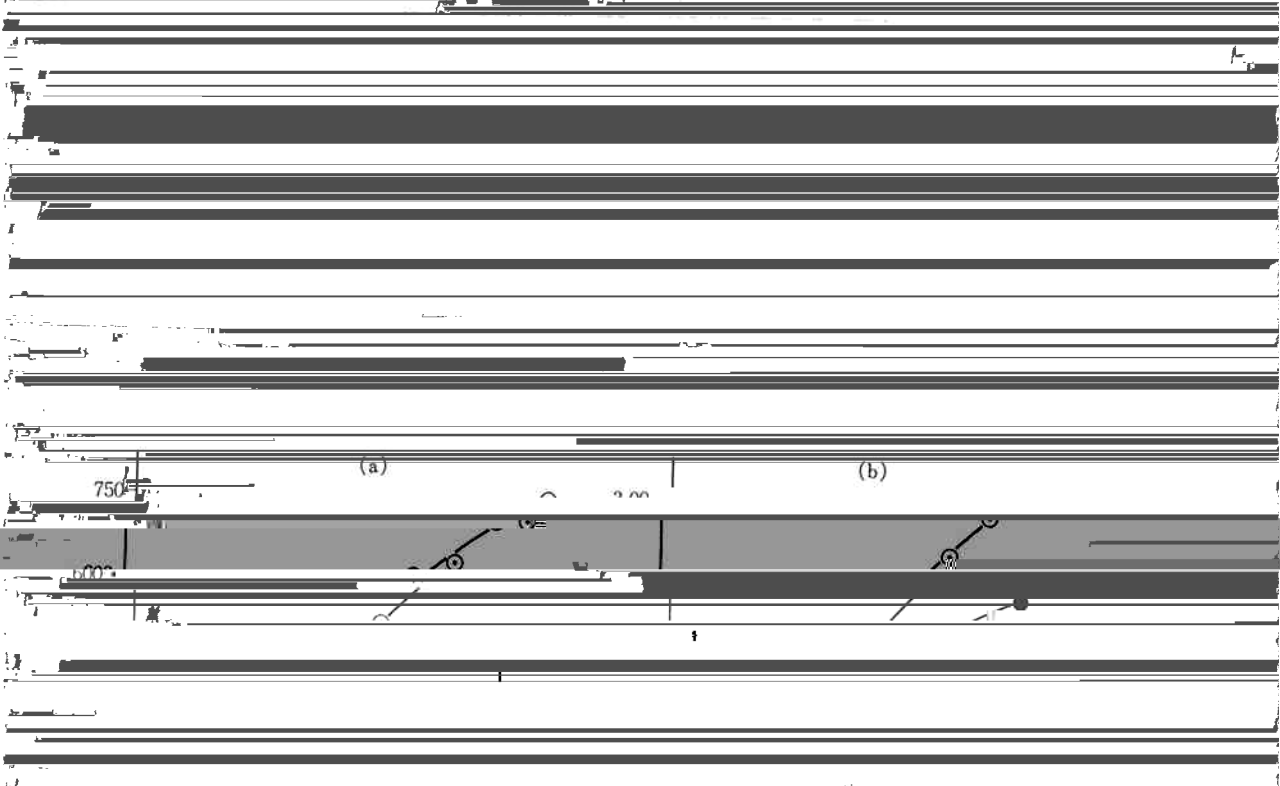

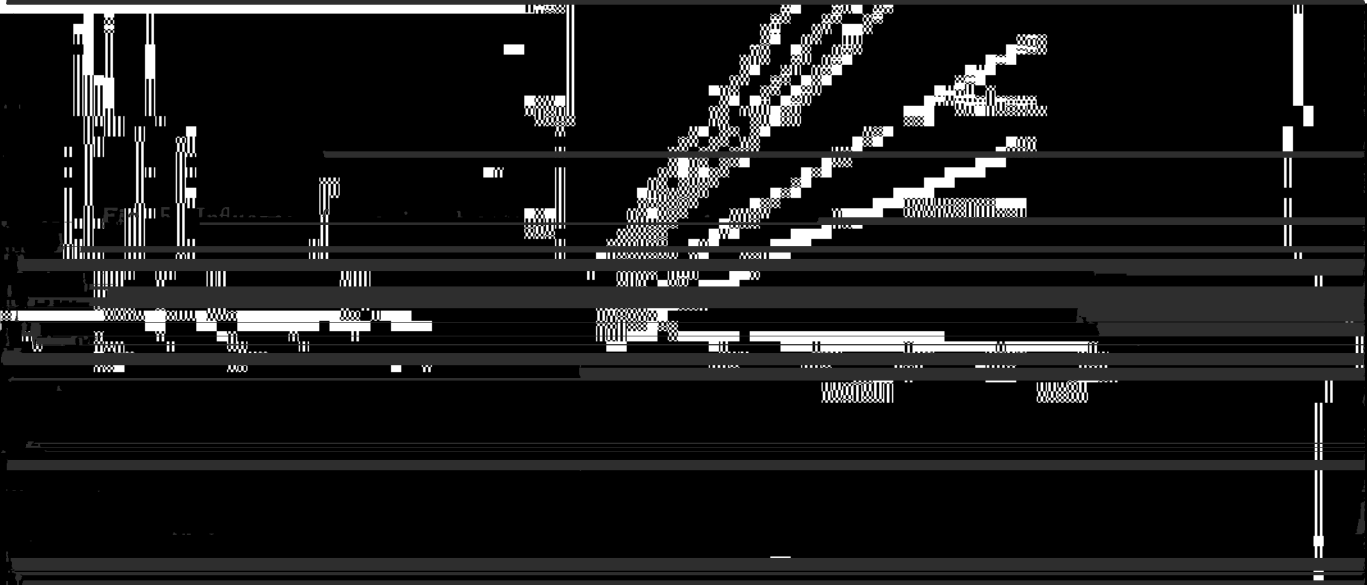

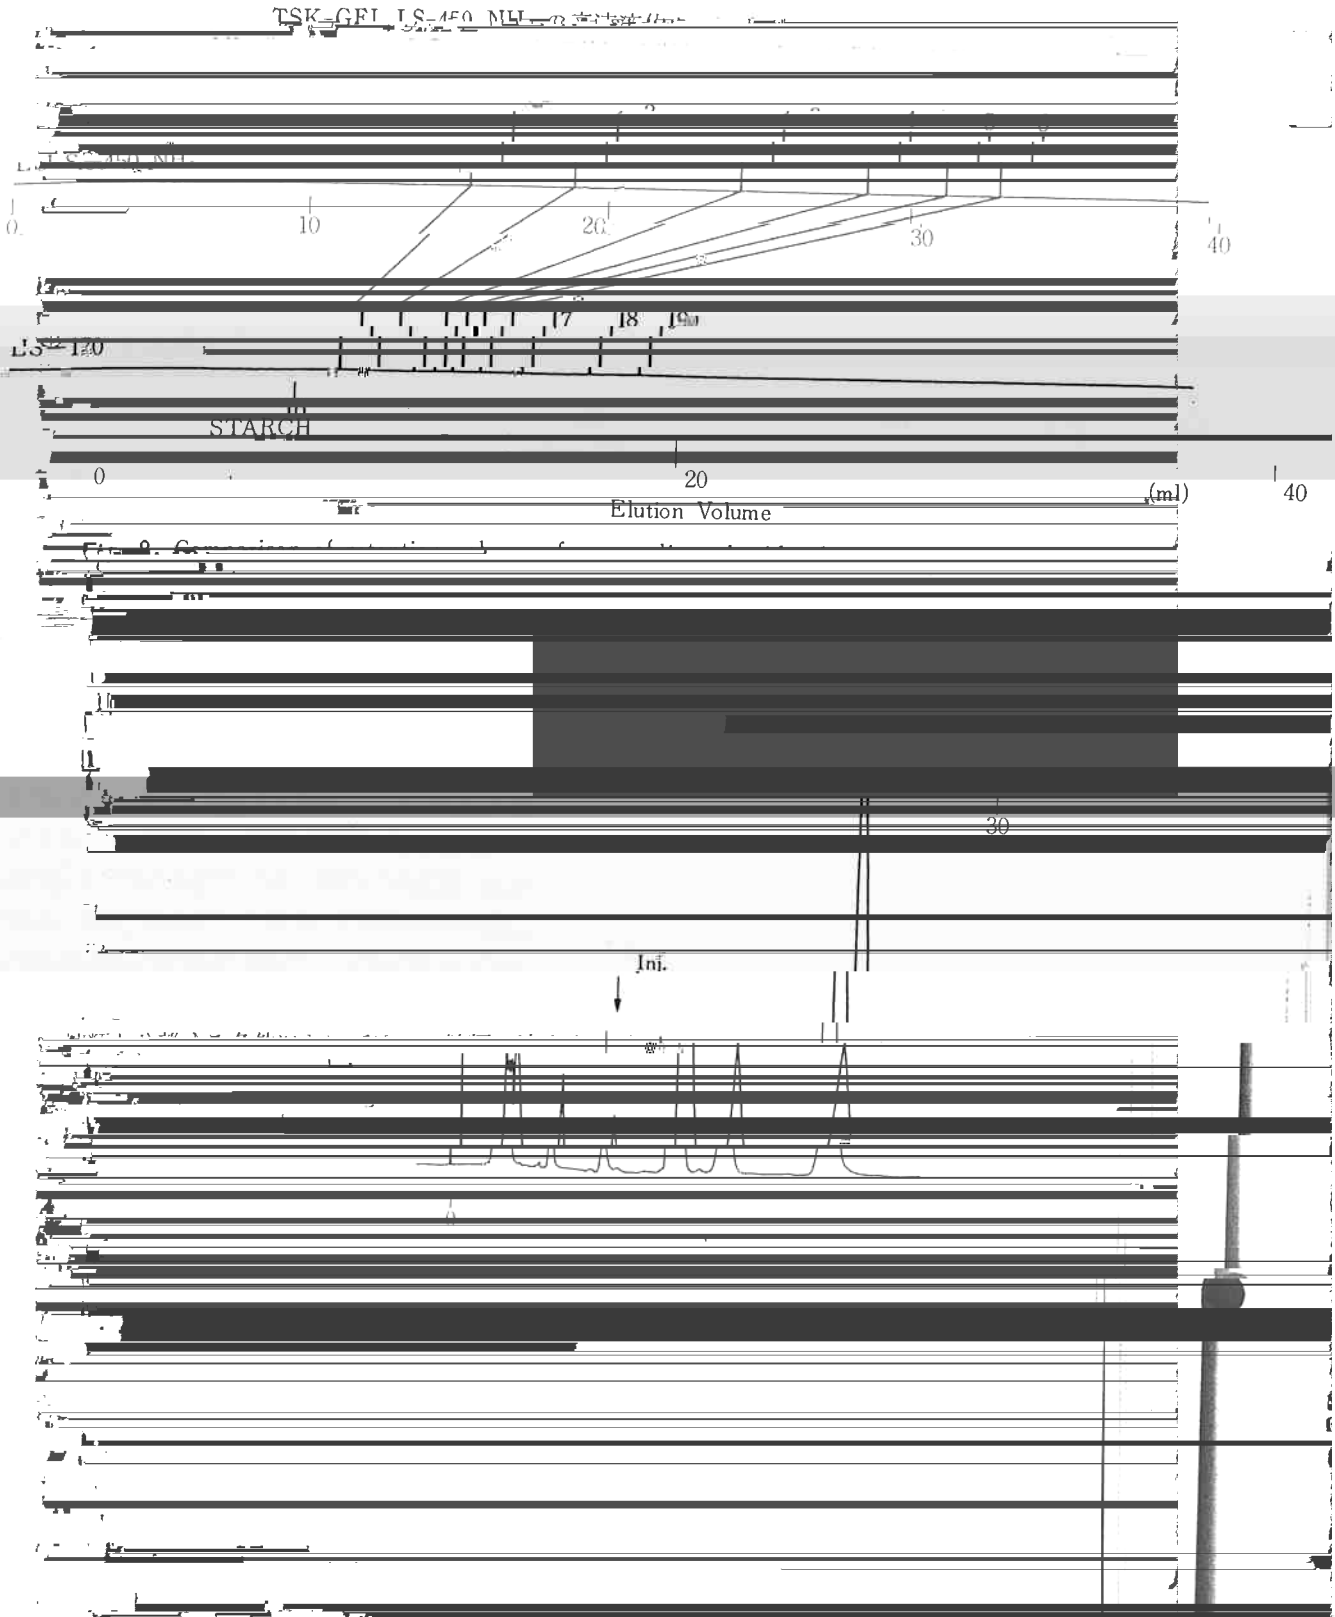

Figure 1 illustrates the syntactic structure of the sentence "The man who is sitting on the bench is reading a book." The diagram shows a main clause with a subject "The man" and a predicate "is reading a book". The subject "The man" is further analyzed as a noun phrase (NP) consisting of "The" (D) and "man" (N). The predicate "is reading a book" is a verb phrase (VP) consisting of "is" (V), "reading" (V), and "a book" (NP). The object "a book" is further analyzed as a noun phrase (NP) consisting of "a" (D) and "book" (N). The diagram also shows the internal structure of the relative clause "who is sitting on the bench", which is a clause with a subject "who" and a predicate "is sitting on the bench".
